Activation is waiting for your profile: what to complete before you use All in One AI

Getting Started & Activation Created on November 28, 2026 2 min read

If you create your account with Google or Facebook, your profile stays incomplete until you fill in your details. While it is incomplete, the first activation of All in One AI waits. The rest of Meu Interweb opens as usual and shows the task "Complete your profile".

Why activation waits

Before we activate a new service, we need your full details. It is the same rule as for the other Interweb services. If you click Activate All in One AI with an incomplete profile, the page answers "Complete your profile to activate All in One AI", with a link to the profile page.

Completing your profile and activating

1. Click the link in the message. You can also use the link in the email we sent you after you signed up to complete your profile: it is valid for 7 days and lists what is missing.
2. Fill in the missing details and save.
3. Go back to the All in One AI page. If you still see the "Activate All in One AI" card, click Activate All in One AI.
4. The page opens with its tabs and, on the first activation, the 100 welcome credits go into your balance. You also get the "AI Account Activated" email.

What if you already bought credits?

Paid credits go into your balance straight away, even with an incomplete profile. They are kept and the card on the page shows them. Only the activation of the account waits. Through the API, buying credits with an incomplete profile answers `409` with `profile_incomplete`. See how to buy credits through the API.

The reminders stop on their own.

If you signed up with Google or Facebook, you get the email to complete your profile and then reminders. They stop as soon as your profile is complete.

Activation itself is free and instant. See what happens when you activate.

RECOMMENDED

Profile complete? Open All in One AI and activate it.
